

CLUB HISTORY

Dancers with Woofs is a dog dancing club sponsored by For Pet's Sake Dog Training in Mukwonago, Wisconsin. The club was formed in August 2005, to promote the sport of Canine Musical Freestyle dance, which is an exciting new dog sport that combines obedience, tricks, music and costumes to produce entertaining dance routines.

The sport began in the late 1980's with several dog obedience demonstrations performed to music. After the first organized competition was held in 1993, Freestyle K9 dance grew in popularity across the US and many other countries. It has since evolved into creative and sometimes theatrical performances that are as diverse and unique as the dogs that perform them. Freestyle dance titles can be obtained through the World Canine Freestyle Organization (WCFO), the Musical Dog Sport Association (MDSA), and the Canine Freestyle Federation (CFF).

Among the club ranks are dogs of different sizes and breeds, including several mixed breeds. This sport is available to persons of all ages ranging from Junior Handlers to Senior Citizens.

Freestyle demonstrations have become a favorite attraction for spectators due to the impressive display of teamwork that develops between the dogs and their handlers, but the greatest appeal for participants, as most club members will testify, is the fun they have with their dogs.
